Lest

Forget

Union University

Jackson, Tennessee

Larry Hearn, Editor
Carole Hall, Assistant Editor
Betty H. Foellinger, Adviser

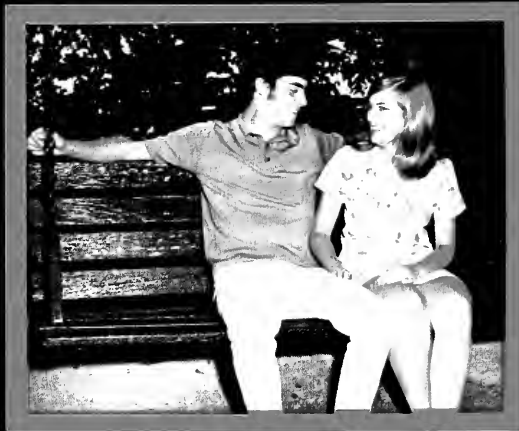

Here I am in the world of challenges, victories and defeats that they told me about. Yet I find myself going back often to the memories of college and the days we spent there.

I remember as I sat dejectedly on that old swing on the day I arrived at college. The autumn leaves had a friendly smell, but they could not smile at me or give me those welcome words I longed to hear. I just swung back and forth and wondered if I would ever find a friend.

There she was—sitting in the swing—alone. I wondered if she were thinking of me. You know, spring sometimes makes the heart do strange things. Maybe as she stared, I thought, and swung back and forth, she was remembering those special moments with me. I wonder if she still remembers those times now.

Yes, that old-fashioned porch swing at Crook Hall. There we were that one fall afternoon. The breeze was chilly as we swung back and forth. But we didn't feel the coldness. Instead we felt each other's warmth. We were happy.

Not much action in summer school, as I remember. Had a lot of free time all to myself. I used to go over to the Student Activities Building and play a game of pool every now and then. But I usually went to Crook Hall and swung—back and forth, back and forth. That was really my focal point on campus.

Everyone was sports-minded in the good old days. Yeh, rah, this—Yeh, rah, that! Go team! Remember the baseball team? When spring came they were off on a southern road trip—often a somewhat soggy disaster—but they always came home to Death Valley and their friends. I still recall the guy in my 2:00 o'clock MWF. He kept sneaking out in order to get to the game to open the popcorn stand. When the bell sounded, the remaining members of the class left—some rushing to the game, some going to another class, and some just goofing off.

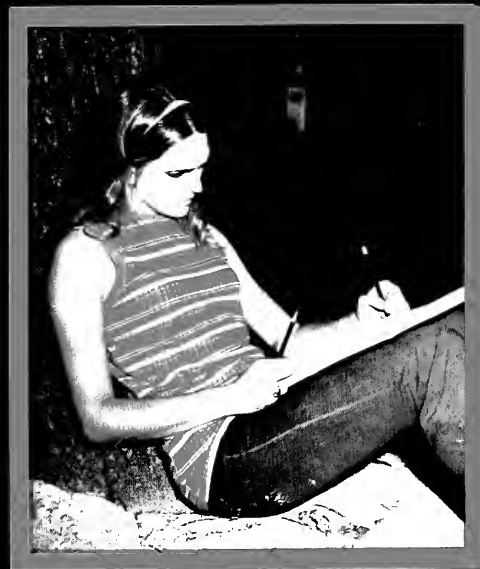

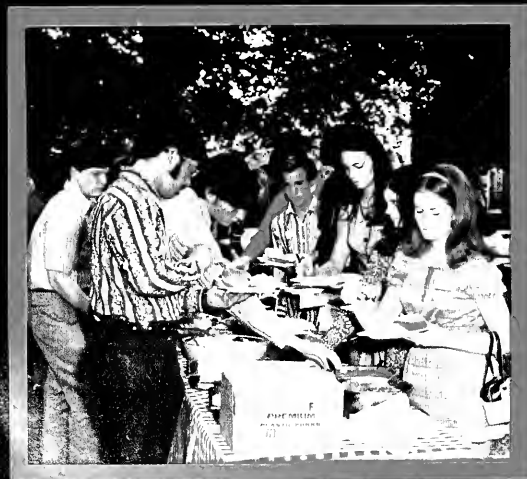

Winter brought basketball and more Yeh, Rah! The question just occurred to me, "Whatever happened to the bulldog mascot, Gracie?"

The Union fieldhouse was alive even when the mighty Bulldogs were not on the court. From September to June there was constant action to be found in intramural sports—badminton, volleyball, basketball, ping pong, shuffleboard, boywatching for the girls, girlwatching for the boys.

Everyone could play one sport or another so it seemed. Those who couldn't found entertainment on the sidelines.

Mom wrote me here that the new campus is finally becoming a reality. She said the actual building process would soon be underway.

I never thought they could raise the money for such a project. And getting rid of an old campus certainly would be a job.

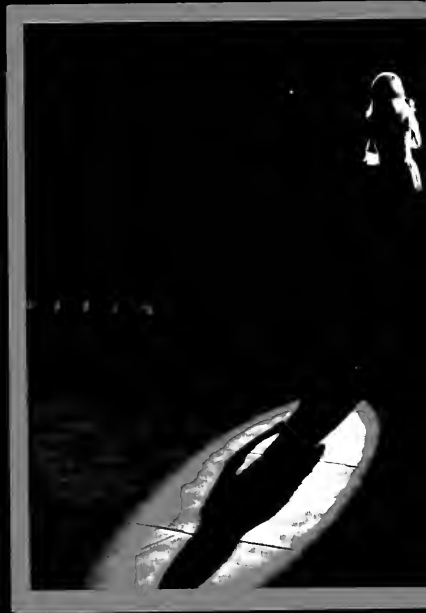

They say the new campus will be different—especially the new learning center that is to replace the library. Still, we had begun to use tapes and recordings when I was in school.

Things will be nice at the new site, but kids will miss being at the old campus for a while. They'll miss sitting under the trees, or having dinner outside, or just walking by the tower at Adams Hall.

When I left I thought I was glad not to have to be a part of the new school. It's difficult to imagine not having classes in the old Ad Building, or not walking down to Death Valley for a ballgame, or not talking on the steps at Jones Hall in the spring.

But sometimes I wish I could start all over again at the new school. It sounds exciting, and I guess it really doesn't matter where the school is moved if none of the spirit is lost.

It seems there was always something going on at Union.

I remember the Strawberry Festival. I cut three classes to go, but it was worth it. The float was beautiful—and so was the royalty.

However, there wasn't much going on in summer school. Bonnie was in the Miss Tennessee pageant in July. What was that song she sang? Oh, yes. "I'll Begin Again." It was so pretty.

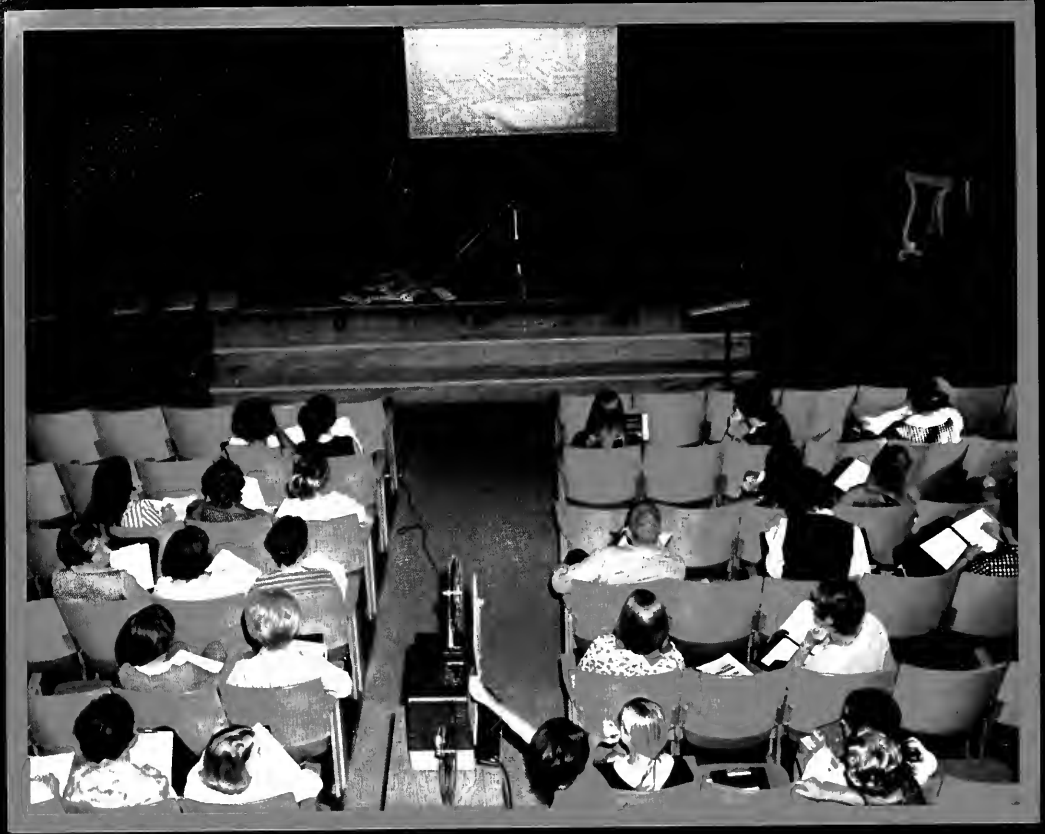

In the fall The Spurrlovs performed for the college. What a group! They really caused a lot of excitement, too.

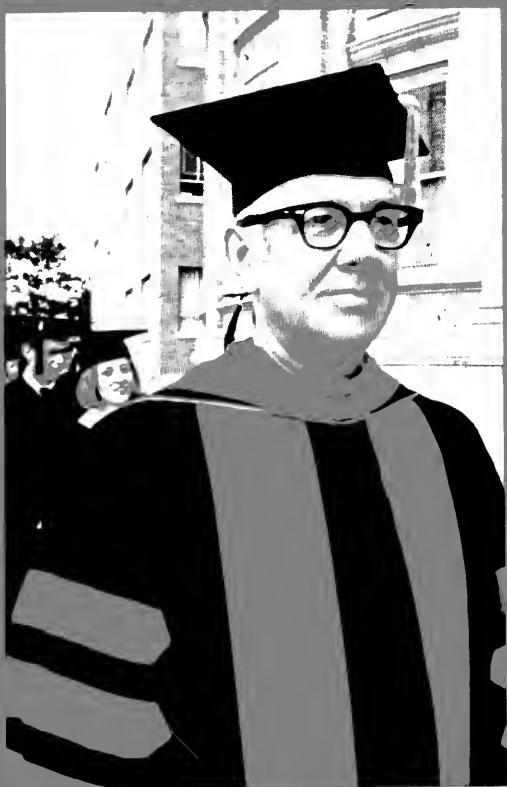

Of course, no one could sell short the Stage Band. Someone was always in the music room—practicing, practicing, practicing. They performed here and at other schools in the area. Everyone—even the leader—said the group was good, great, fantastic!

I remember that on some of those concert dates everyone didn't get to go. In fact, staying in my room one time finishing that last term paper was the only thing that put me over the hump.

When I was in school teachers found time to be on campus more. The Circle was always a gathering place for students, and often faculty members stopped by to chat with us.

Classes became more interesting as teachers began to use films instead of just lecturing. It seemed that the nursing students were always looking at a film in Powell.

I stopped by the campus one evening when they were having a faculty picnic. I couldn't believe it; the teachers almost seemed like human beings.

Dr. Craig always had a smile for anyone who stopped by his office. At commencement time, Mother told me how resolutely Dr. Walter Warmath led our class into baccalaureate.

You know, people weren't just teachers and administrators; they were friends. I still miss seeing them.

There were a few people that I never really got to know while I was at Union. Oh, usually we greeted each other when we met on campus. They were friendly to me and probably that's why their faces are so vivid to me now, yet I can hardly remember their names.

I met so many people at registration. And then all those faces at the All-Greek party during Orientation. I talked with a lot of recruiters about teaching positions too. They all asked the same questions.

Who was that guy from Memphis, anyway? Every time I passed the phone booth he was using it—what a social life he must have had!

And car waxing was a favorite outdoor sport for the non-athletes.

Oh yes, we did go to classes, really quite often; and we checked out many books, but usually more than we used.

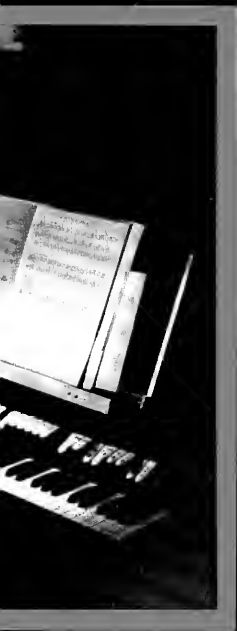

Students were always working on projects for class. Even late in the afternoon you'd find them in the chemistry lab doing experiments.

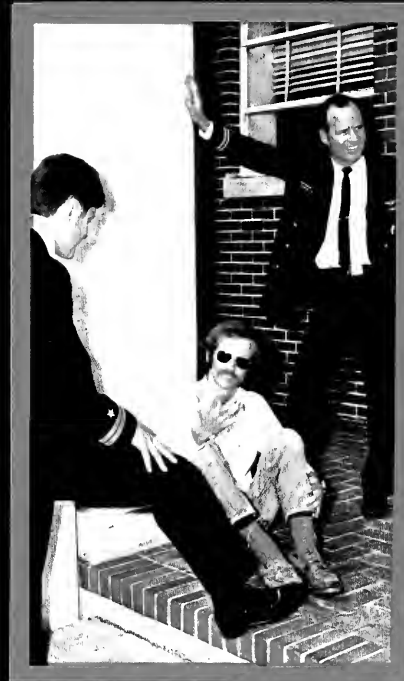

I went to the ceramics department one day to look around. It was fascinating. I was surprised to see just how good some of the students were at creating things.

Art students worked hard too. Mr. Carmichael was always there to help them. And the music majors—they were always singing and/or playing.

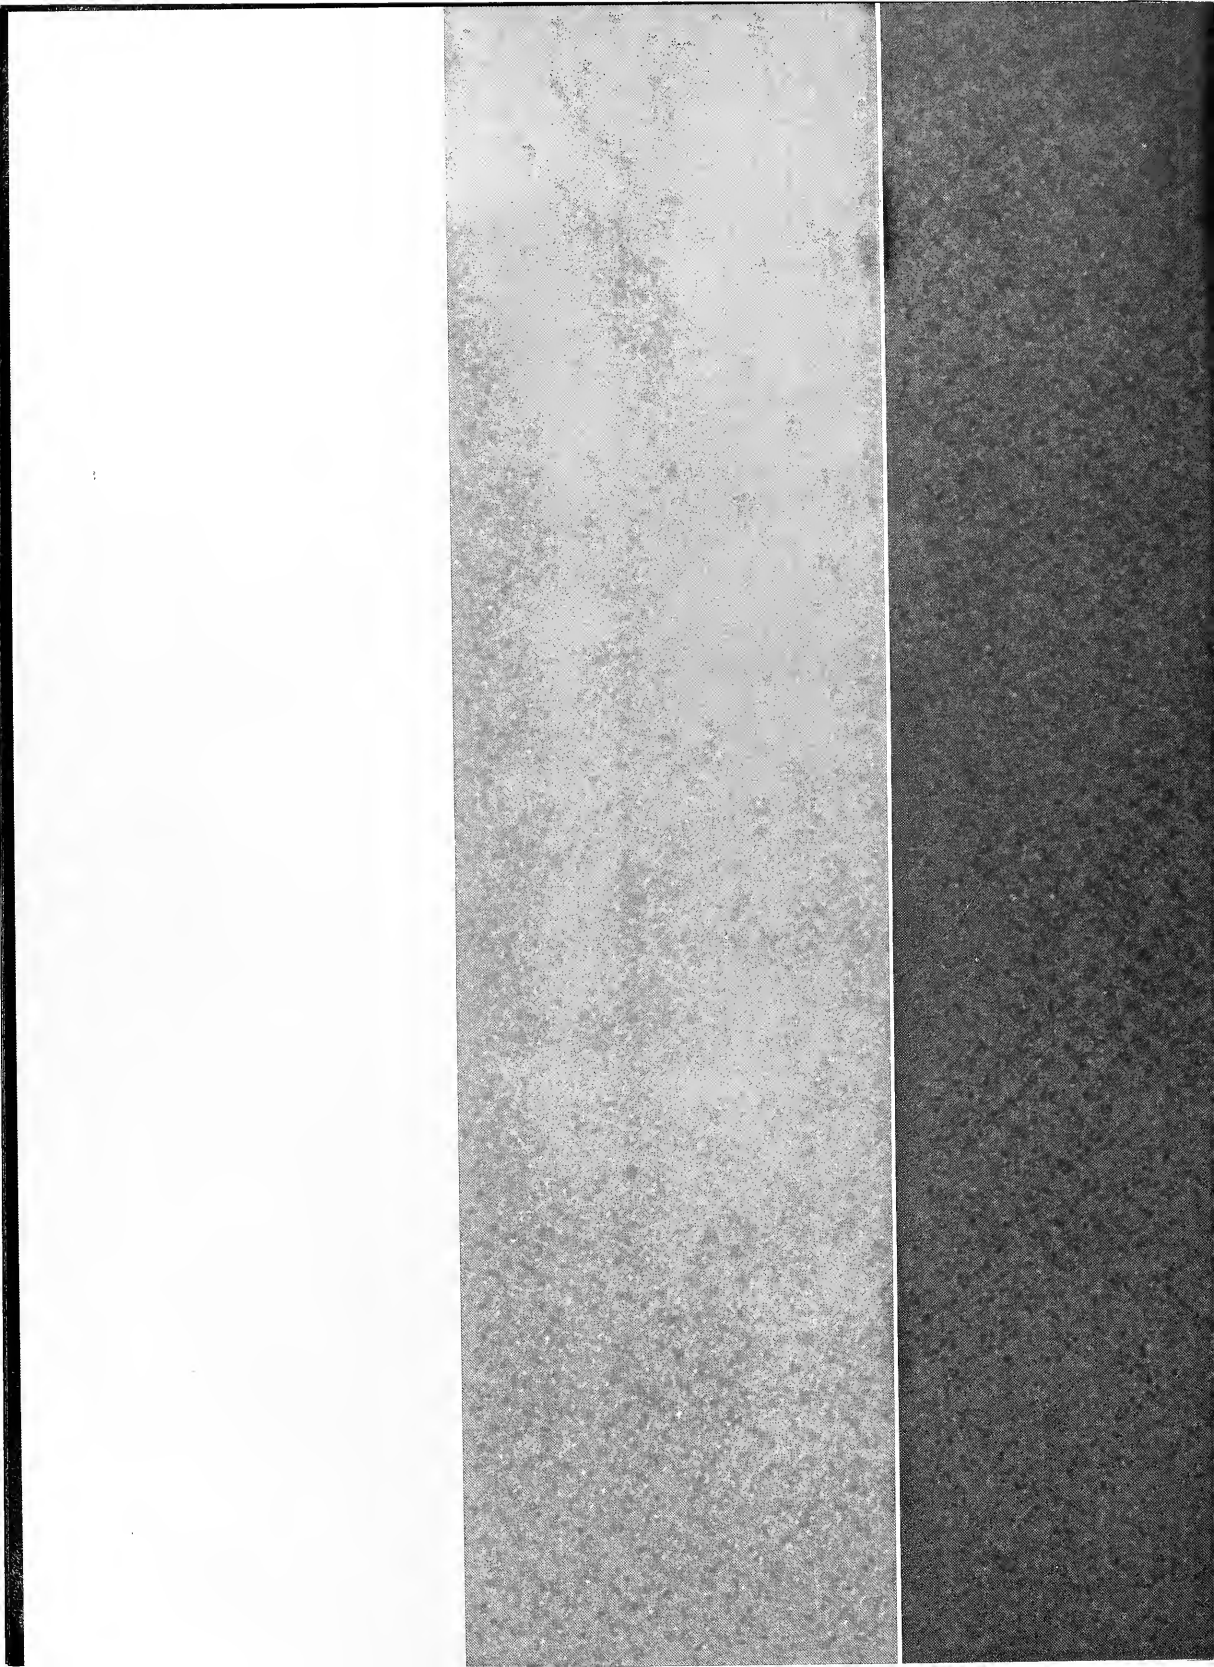

Of course there were students like Wally who seemed to have nothing to do but look for problems. Still, these students had a place on our campus too.

Yes, it is tempting to return, if only for a moment to the yesterdays of my life. Long strolls through the campus, the all-important tennis match, the swing at Crook Hall, the stray puppy, the Lyceum programs, the final examinations, the All-Sing competition, the chapel program, good, bad and indifferent, the graduation ceremony—all of these have found places in my memory. I become older and I find that I wish I could go back to some of those things. But, no. We can recapture for a while our yesterdays, but we can never relive them. We must use our past as a reference for the new ways that we have not walked before. We must use our past for the new ideas that we will form. But, it is tempting to return.

Faculty
And Administration

Dr. Robert E. Craig
President

The relationship between the President's office and the students of Union University is one of mutual dependence and cooperation. Sometimes, however, there is an undesired, but necessary, separateness. The President is only one person, and he cannot be in every office, classroom, or activity in which students are engaged. His responsibilities often demand that he be off-campus.

The "Prexy" work is directly affected by the quality of student life and activities on the campus. In turn the President strives to assist the students by securing the best personnel possible, by providing a sound fiscal program, by winning new friends for the university, and by maintaining a stable and progressive management of the total college.

G. Wayne Brown
Vice President and Academic Dean.

Academic administration exists for nothing if not as a symbol of the comprehensibility of the universe. Its duty is to insure an academic ecological balance for students and faculty. It must insure that academe remains the home for faculty who believe the quest for truth to be of paramount importance, and it must likewise insure a proper environment for students to experience self-examination in peace.

Don Ellis
Dean of Students

Let's talk to each other at least; communication is the first step toward understanding.

Maggie N. Brewer
Dean of Women

Dr. W. Walter Warmath
Vice President of Development

Because we at Union believe strongly in the worth of education on a Christian-oriented campus, we strive to interpret Union University to our several publics in such manner as to evoke response in terms of financial support and students.

Dr. David J. Irby
Dean of Religious Affairs

To complete the whole personality of the Union student requires attention to the aspects of religion. Programs, activities and direction of the in-service guidance program for church related vocation students are a facet of the work of the Dean of Religious Affairs.

Carl Halvarson
Assistant to the President

Union University has made a great decision. They are moving to a completely new location and building not only a new college, but are joining with the community to develop the surrounding area. The college, with its strong ties and support from the Tennessee Baptist Convention, will have a strong influence.

Gladys Stane
Registrar

The Registrar's office provides the opportunity to organize and administer, with the cooperation of a dedicated staff, an academic service center. We think of our first "publics" as students, other administrators, faculty, staff, and families of students.

Campus Life

Campusology, 101

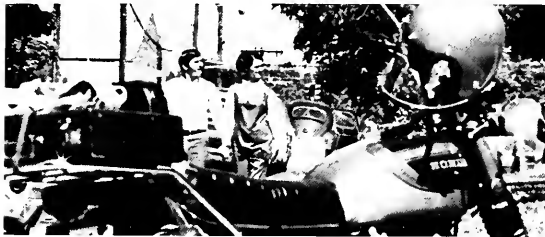

Life at Union, although academically centered, does not neglect any other phase. Emphasis is placed on spiritual and social development as well as physical and mental training. The campus becomes the student's community where he will work and enjoy recreation with his fellow students.

Kathy Hicks bears the brunt of Freshmen Week, as she poses in her "costume".

The varsity cheerleaders did much to spark crowd's enthusiasm during basketball season.

The pumpkin cutting contest, sponsored by the Slater Food Service in late October, is always a delight for students.

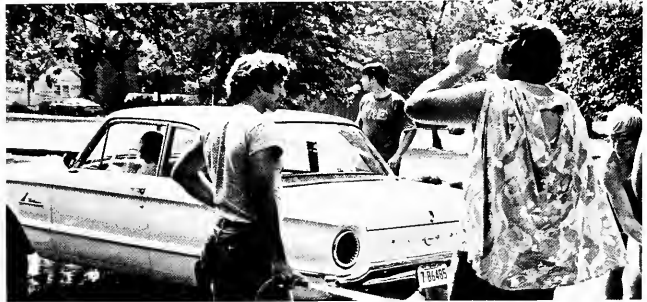

Activities are varied during the early spring, and the warm sunshine is enjoyed during the study breaks.

Joe Smella and Jenny Seabrook relax on the steps, anticipating their next class . . . wonder if they cut?

Library hours are in the picture too.

Fraternities and sororities sponsor money-making projects throughout the school year to support their charity projects.

Dormitory life to Carole Powell is ideal when shared by Namath and Redford.

The campus-wide revival featuring Rev. Bobby Moore held in the spring proves to be a complete success; music by Tammy Lane.

The P.E. Club sponsors a bicycle race open to all.

The chapel programs this year offer varied spiritual programs.

In a pensive mood, a student enjoys the solitude and beauty of the campus.

"Brigadoon" Hi-Lites

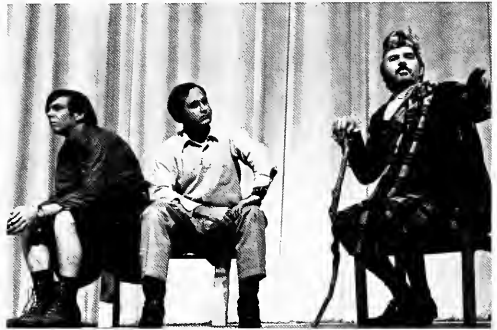

Portraying the lead roles of Fiona and Tommy, Sherry Soder and John Prince sing their duet "The Heather on the Hill."

Volendia Nelson as Meg, the milk maid, won the heart of the audience.

The Wedding Scene, which involved Bart Shanklin as Charlie, Janis Bowen as Jean and Dr. Joseph Bloss as Mr. Lundie was one of the most exciting.

Choosing for their selections "Exodus" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the women of Zeta Tau Alpha perform their winning numbers.

Zeta's director, Patricia Williams, proudly holds their two trophies.

BSU All-Sing

Singing "Ebb Tide" and "God Is" and "I'll Walk With God," a medley arranged by their director Debbie Burton, the Independents were excellent in their performance.

The women of Chi Omega under the direction of Janet Stallings sing their selections of "The Sound of Silence" and "Amazing Grace."

"We Won!" was heard throughout the auditorium when Zeta was announced the winner of the women's group division.

Steve Smith holds the trophy that Lambda Chi Alpha has won four consecutive years.

The men of Lambda Chi Alpha under the direction of Steve Smith were successful with their selections of "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones" and "Those Magnificent Men and Their Flying Machines."

Creates Suspense

"And the winners of the men's group division Lambda Chi Alpha."

Singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Dixie", Paul Clark directs the men of Alpha Tau Omega.

"Never My Love" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" were the selections sung by the Lambda Chi Alpha ensemble.

The Sigma Alpha Iota Ensemble performs.

The Chi Omega Ensemble in action.

Winning the ensemble division, the Zetas chose "Love Story" and "Holy, Holy, Holy" as their selections.

Homecoming Highlights Spring

This year Homecoming proved to be as exciting and as surprising as ever. The Homecoming royalty were Queen Teresa Clark and maids Judy Barefoot, Sandra Bowers, and Karon Morgan. The Queen this year was chosen by a campus-wide election. The pre-game activities consisted of the announcing of the Greek and dorm display winners and the winner of the Spirit Cup. Then the Union Bulldogs met the UTM Pacers and defeated them. After the game a reception honoring alumni was held in the Coliseum hospitality room. Homecoming 1972 was one we shall never forget.

The cafeteria began Homecoming activities with a great Bar-B-Q on Friday night.

"... I'm taking my case to a higher court..."

"Outpace the Pacers" was the theme used to win the Greek display trophy for Chi Omega.

Emily Stowe accepts the first place trophy for Chi Omega.

Greek Display Winners

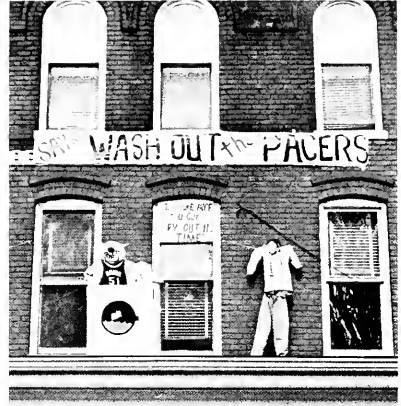

Zeta Tau Alpha has placed in the Greek display for three years. "Slay the Pacers" was this year's theme.

Patricia Williams accepts the award for Zeta Tau Alpha.

Adams Hall won the first place trophy with their theme "Round Up the Pacers."

Dorm Display Awards

For the first time, Phi Mu Alpha, men's professional music fraternity, entered a display.

Tommy Scott accepts the trophy for Adams Hall from Dr. Raymond Boston, President of the Alumni.

After the ballgame, alumni gathered in the hospitality room of the Coliseum.

Rogers Steed accepts the Spirit Cup for Alpha Tau Omega.

Varied Entertainment Pleases All

The Brooklyn Bridge, a rock band brought to Union last spring semester, proved to be crowd pleasers.

A group which has appeared with the Billy Graham Crusades, the Spurrllows were very entertaining while also bringing a message to the students.

Luther, a play centered around the causes and effects of the Protestant Reformation, was one of the Lyceum's most successful programs.

Shad Williams provided the music for an original play by Jerry Phillips entitled The Choice.

Vance Sturdivant plays a disturbed young man about to take his life. It was a very thought-provoking play.

Graduation Brings New

Dr. J.D. Gray, Union alumnus and past president of Southern Baptist Convention, was the Baccalaureate speaker at 1971 Commencement.

Pageant Pleases

Hollywood came to Jackson as Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1959, and Gary Collins, of television's "Sixth Sense," acted as emcees for the 1972 Miss Union University Pageant. Backed by the Union University Stage Band under the direction of Dr. Gerald Welker, Don Wylie and the Stage Band Singers provided tremendous local talent. Long hours of rehearsing numbers, practicing turns, and walking the ramp culminated in the crowning of Glenda Laman as Miss Union University of 1972.

Gary Collins and Mary Ann share introductions.

Mary Ann Mobley sings her "Dixie" melody.

And Don entertains with "Fancy Colors."

Miss Union, 1972

Accompanied by the Stage Band's musical back-up, the contestants vied in evening gown, talent, and swimsuit competition. After having interviewed them at a reception earlier in the day, the panel of judges evaluated the contestants as to stage presence and performance. Close tabulation revealed Glenda Laman as Miss Union University, 1972. As Bonnie Bivens relinquished her crown, the new Queen made her first walk down the ramp in her new role. Miss Beverly Williams presented the trophy for the outstanding talent to Kathy Craig, who performed "Polichinelle," at the piano.

The students of Union provided their governing body with a Senate organization and a slate of officers to preside over the Senate body. This year one of the heaviest tasks was providing concerts for Union students. In cooperation with cross-town neighbors at Lambuth College, two concerts were staged—one at Union in the fall and one at Lambuth in the spring. At Union, the Spurrllows were a smash!

Prexy Club. Caught in the mid-winter sunshine were a part of the Prexy Club members.

Members of the Lamplighters sign up and pay their dues.

Prexy Club

Composed of the presidents of all Union's organizations, plus Dr. Robert Craig, Dr. Don Ellis, and Dr. Carl Halvarson, the Prexy Club confers on call by the Dean of Students many times a semester. Meeting both formally and informally, the club has discussed and then shared with their respective groups topics which include new campus plans and projects, the organization of the new Student Foundation, the administrative restructuring of academic areas, and the all-campus election of Homecoming Royalty.

Baptist Groups Feature Involvement

From revival teams to planning and sponsoring the All-Sing, the Baptist Student Union has activity for all Union students. The beginning of this year was very special for BSU members at the fall retreat at Camp Linden. The retreat was special in itself in that it was expanded to benefit all organization on Union's campus. Always a treat to BSU officers was the state convention. Union was well represented by Martha Woffard who presented a message on her student mission tour in Knoxville. Another facet of the BSU is the choir. This year under the direction of Howard Fuller and Terry Adams they have been performing a musical entitled "Natural High" which bears a message against drug abuse.

Richard Holloman speaks at Vespers.

At Christmas time, everyone—guests and members—enjoyed a time of games, the excitement of breaking a pinata full of candy and a visit from Santa Claus.

David Howard entertains the guests with a story.

Kaance and Wayne Webb. Third Row: Sam Stallings, Dave Davidson, David Burton, Ray Whaley, Rannie Maddax, David Boyd, Louis Minner and Nolan Smith.

Baptist Young Women are: Standing: Barbara Fiveash, Wanda Coleman, Carol Wise, Joy Crowder, Carla Wise, Barbara Farmer, Brenda Roarke, Carol Cathran and Mrs. Clyde Tilley. Seated: Rachel Powers, Brenda Powers, Beverly Smathers, Martha Waffard, and Mable Ainley.

Community Service Includes Tutoring

Providing a close communication for the man studying the art of preaching is Union's Ministerial Association. As a vital active group with weekly meetings, these men help shape and form many of the ideas portrayed on campus. The Baptist Young Women stay busy all the school year. Under the leadership of Mrs. Clyde Tilley, this year they have established tutoring of elementary school children, ministering to nursing home residents, and the adoption of a missionary to Brazil to take up much of their out-of-class time.

The Student Foundation

The Student Foundation was organized for the purpose of enlisting outstanding students at Union to promote the general welfare of the University. Activities of the Foundation include assistance in student recruitment, public relations, scholarships and fund raising projects.

In February the Foundation sponsored with the Student Government Association a Campus Bar-B-Que combined with a nostalgic and musical Variety Show on the Friday night of Homecoming Weekend.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

Kappa Mu Epsilon is a national mathematics society. The Tennessee Gamma Chapter was chartered at Union in 1965. Membership is restricted to those who have completed at least three math courses and have a high grade point average while maintaining a high overall scholastic rank. Programs at the monthly meetings are designed to stimulate interest in math.

Mallory Math Club

Under the leadership of President Becky White and Sponsors Dr. Joseph Tucker and Richard Dehn, the Mallory Math Club seeks to encourage students to better scholarship in the field of mathematics. Named in honor of the late Jasper N. Mallory, the club meets once each month.

Girls' P.E. Club

Expanding the progress of physical fitness is necessary in today's mind-weary world. The Girls's P.E. Club endeavors to bring this aspect to light for Union students and to discuss and to work on the problems within their organization. Discussions and exercise are prime targets for programs. One promotion endeavored this year was the sponsoring of a women's basketball team, who played in several extramural contests.

Officers of P.E. Club are Sara Lee Moore, treasurer; Brenda Moore, president; Jodie Parrish, vice president.

U Club

Achieving excellence in the athletic program of Union University permits a special organization for recognition of those attaining that excellence. The U Club represents all those who have lettered in an intercollegiate athletic event sponsored by the University. These men gather to promote Union sports events as well as to promote ticket sales for Youth Town of Tennessee, to run concessions at ball games, and to handle the parking facilities for sports events at Union.

The Intramural Conference is designed for the governing of all such events. The addition of points accumulated, proper refereeing, and statistical records are all the responsibility of this group, who actively serve Union's athletic programs.

Debate Team

A trip for the purpose of arguing? But the Debate Team travels for that purpose. Preparing a convincing argument requires physical stamina and a mental trap for a mind. Several area colleges felt the brunt of this exclusive organization that builds its reputation on their gift of gab.

Debate Team. Front to Back: Betty Bennett, Kathy Davie, Debbie Burton, June Freeman, Carolyn Brawn, Doug Rogers, Fred Jones, Robert Dailey.

S.N.E.A.

The Student National Education Association is always involved in Union's goals and traditions. Preparing young men and women for a career in education is not an easy task, and the work involved in getting one together for this career relies heavily on the social influence of such an organization. To express their thoughts on the matter of education, a poster campaign was launched for advertisement of education in the halls of the Administration building this year.

Study of the Past Proves Interesting

Expanding the knowledge of United States, European, and World history could well describe the activities of the Rutledge History Club. Meeting to discuss these items with guests as well as Union faculty members and other interested parties, the club finds time to socialize and comment on the future on even socialize and comment on the future of even Union itself.

Strictly an honor society, Phi Alpha Theta members share high esteem in the academic world of Union's campus. It is an honor to be a part of this national organization for the advancement of people who study history and who later apply its facts in teaching or in law.

Independent Women Organize

An exciting step forward for Union's campus is the Independent Women's Organization, designed to bring a social togetherness for women who did not join a sorority and who feel a need for a social peer group.

Among many of their varied activities during the year was competing in the BSU All-Sing. Parties, meetings, and other events have kept them busy, with their efforts being manifested in all areas of the campus.

Nurses Initiate New Programs

Fulfilling the Nursing program both educationally and socially The Lamplighters provide the tools to do this. Community service projects such as collection tags for the Salvation Army and giving a Christmas party for underprivileged children helped to make them a needed part of the community. Busy as they are, they still have found times during meetings to provide for guest speakers such as Mrs. Ruth Bath, a registered nurse and former Union student. A new step has also been added to their program this year. This was the initiation of a Big Sister Program in which the second year students undertake responsibilities to aid first year students. They also participate in laboratory work at the Jackson-Madison County Hospital and, for the first time this year, at the Mediocenter.

The Nursing Class Officers are: Betty Butler, treasurer; Debbie Miller, president; Lorrie Flowers, secretary; Jan Caylor, reporter; Joyce Morris, vice president, and Mrs. Bridger, adviser.

Union's Drama Clubs Set the Stage

Union's chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatics fraternity, has had a pleasant season of work including an initiation evening for new members and many hours of hard work on the fall musical, Brigadoon.

The Footlights Club, also involved in drama, sponsored some activities of their own. These include their own initiation service for new members. In the fall they held a reception for the Alpha Omega players who presented the play Luther as a Lyceum program.

Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota

Providing social enjoyment as well as professional interests for music majors are the prime objectives of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Music Fraternity for men and Sigma Alpha Iota Music Fraternity for women. This year's activities included recitals given by pledges and the running of concessions for the West Tennessee marching contests and the All-West

Tennessee solo and ensemble contest.

In addition, the Sinfonians moved to a new home and are now located in the Student Activities Building, in a plushly decorated room complete with elaborate mural the S.A.I.'s planned their activities for the year.

Many hours of rehearsal pay off in a superb concert performance.

Symphonic Band Plays Two Concerts

Earning an increasing respect from Jackson area music lovers is Union's fine Symphonic Band. On November 18, the campus family and the public were treated to the Annual Fall Pops Concert. Musical taste buds were gorged with the "Overture to My Fair Lady," "Caucasian Sketches," and Santana's hit "Black Magic Women." The band also worked dramatically during the fall in the production of "Brigadoon." Springtime also means "longhair" for the band. From Bach to contemporaries such as Orf, the music of the Symphonic Band is heralded by all.

Union's Symphonic Band waits in full dress, moments before the fall concert.

Choral Groups Make Concert Appearances

Under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Hartley, the University Chorus performed Messiah for its Christmas concert this year. Guest soloists Beverly Williams, Mary Lois Summers, George McFaffin and Joseph Blass made the ensemble complete.

"What Is Man" was performed at the spring concert. Contemporary in treatment and ancient in its story, the creation of man was told vividly in song.

Seven girls under the direction of Miss Mary Lois Summers make up the Women's Ensemble. Presenting programs in area churches and schools, these young ladies are helpful in Union's recruitment program. Singing both popular and classical selections, their voices blend a special message of peace.

Max Pugh, pianist, and Ronald Brothers, organist, provided the accompaniment.

Concepts of choral arts change frequently. The '71-'72 Singers enjoy that change with a deftness that makes them a much sought-after group. Area churches and high schools as well as people on campus demand and enjoy their singing quite often. From Hans Leo Hassler to Howard Hanson, their performing craft is undeniably the best.

One of the greatest enjoyments of the year for the group is the spring tour. This year the group performed in Memphis; Paris, Tennessee; Taylorsville, Kentucky; Glasgow, Kentucky; Clinton, Tennessee; and Shelbyville, Tennessee. The trip offered the beauty of Appalachia as one of its outstanding highlights as well as the meeting of new and wonderful people.

Stage Band Brings Recognition to Union

Playing from Illinois to Mississippi, the Stage Band features rock; hard driving rock, which is sweetened by ballads. They make campus appearances, play at special concerts, and at the Miss Tennessee Pageant. Current hits such as "Walk on By", "Hi-di-ho", "Something", and "Get It On" give this special group the special pow they are. Under Dr. Gerald Welker's direction, their travels and time log permit them always a great deal of declaration and recognition.

Greg Staver sets the beat.

Greeks on the Go

Greeks are certainly on the go! Volunteer work and support to the Jackson Boys' Club and at the Cerebral Palsy Day Care Center are among many of the services they perform for the community. Student government offices, organizational leadership, members of the Student Foundation and campus planning committees—yes, Greeks are involved at Union.

Greeks work hard at academics, but they have "fun" and enjoy college life too. Sharing in the honors is all a part of their world. U Club, dormitories, and fraternities are proud of their lovely sweethearts who all are Greeks. Campus favorites, Miss Union, Mr. and Miss Union University—Greeks.

Greeks are on the go! Each organization has its binding ties. Each brotherhood, each sisterhood has much to offer its members. Among the life styles on the campus, the world of Greeks is an exciting and rewarding world in which to live.

Union Opens Season In Fine Fashion

Union opened the basketball season going great guns in December, winning their first three games. In the Carson Newman Invitational the Bulldogs dropped a pair of one-point games before bouncing Meridan Naval Air Academy, 150-51. After defeating the local Lane Dragons, 118-109, Union fell to John Brown University to close the month with a 5-3 record.

Dogs Break Even

In January the Bulldogs won four games and lost four in what seemed to be an up and down month for Union. After winning three of their first four, the Bulldogs fell to a tough Kentucky Wesleyan team by an 82-70 count. Union then rolled over Southeast Missouri before falling to Belmont and Memphis State. Their record: 9-7. At this time Billy Howard was tied for first place in the nation in free throw percentage with a .900 mark. As a team the Bulldogs were ranked sixth with .869 from the charity stripe.

Bulldogs Rally Late in Season

Starting off their season with a road trip to various points in Florida, the Bulldogs had the opportunity to try their ability under the most strained of circumstances. Although their record on the trip did not speak especially well of their ability, they soon rallied in "Death Valley" to end the season with a record of 29 wins and 27 losses.

Dogs Play Heavy Baseball Schedule

Although the mighty baseball Bulldog saw his schedule cut from fifty to forty games this season, he nonetheless faced his opponents with typical vigor. Members of the team exemplified the positive attitude necessary for a victorious squad. Returning lettermen boosted the Dogs' skill and confidence while an unusually faithful crowd cheered the team. Coach Butch McBroom whisked his men to various points in Texas where they faced the "tall men" in six contests.

Union Involved in Extramural Competition

Union girls' extramurals really got underway this year. Under the direction of Mrs. Grace Williams, girls participated in both volleyball and basketball. After two matches locally, the girls' volleyball team went to Memphis State to participate in the State Volleyball Championship. Although they didn't win, they had a lot of fun.

The girls' basketball team played five matches this season. In the latter part of February they entered the district basketball tournament at Jackson State Community College. Joe Holloway served as coach of the girls' team.

Tennis Team Has A Building Year

Union's tennis team, the only team in their conference without a scholarship program, got off to a slow start last fall, but prospects in the spring began to look up. Guiding the team were five returning lettermen: Larry Fowler, Jerry Hayes, Tom Scott, Roger "Skip" Jones, and Denise McCarty.

Under the direction of Dr. Gary Cain, Union's netters planned an 8-10 game schedule for the spring. Some of the teams who played the Bulldogs were Christian Brothers College, UT Martin, Bethel, and Belmont.

Denise prepares to ace her serve.

Golf team members: David Landreth, Bobby Pennebaker, Sam Stallings, Bobby Nesbitt, Van Jackson.

Golf Team

Union's golf team is composed of seven members, three of whom are on scholarships. The Bulldog golfers played several tough matches this spring with teams such as Belmont, Sewanee, and Christian Brothers. They also participated in the TIAC tourney held at the University of the South at Sewanee on April 14-15.

Intramurals Provide Competition and Fun

Though men's intramurals often overshadowed girls' intramurals in number of contests, the ladies also had an active program. They competed in tennis, basketball, and volleyball. The volleyball and basketball extramural teams also gave the girls a chance to compete.

Intramurals Prove Exciting

Rugged competition and plenty of action characterize the men's intramural program at Union. Competing in basketball, football, soccer, May Day track and field events and other activities, Union students have a chance to release some of their unexpended energy, and have fun doing it.

Governor Dunn arrives on campus.

Governor Dunn Visits

One of the highlights of the spring semester was Governor Winfield Dunn's visit to the Union campus. The sale of the campus, having become a statewide issue, brought Governor Dunn to spend two hours touring the grounds with Dr. Craig and Mr. Elliott. Many students had the opportunity to meet the state's leading man for the first time. Representatives of the Jackson Sun were on hand to record the governor's visit for the newspaper as the visit by the governor brought excitement and fun to the campus.

The governor takes time to autograph a student's book.

The local news media follow Governor Dunn, Dr. Craig, and Mr. Elliott as they tour the campus.

Dr. Craig practices the "soft sell" approach.

Bob Elliott and Governor Dunn agree that it takes a lot of "bread" to run a school.

A Union student has his first chance to shake hands with the Governor.

A Chance to Return . . .

Many of us will be leaving Union — some never to return to the stately Administration building, to Death Valley, or to the swing at Crook Hall. Others will return next year, only to find the college not quite the same as when they left. As we move on to face the world, we must contend with the present and look to the future. Few are the times when we can return in person to our younger days, to college, to Union.

For those of the '72 Lest We Forget staff, this book will bring back memories of hard work, lots of fun, and a feeling of accomplishment. For you as a student, administrator or alumnus, perhaps the book will help you to recall enjoyable times at Union. Perhaps it will afford you the opportunity—for some of those golden moments — a chance to return . . .
